Dear Parents and Guardians

Diocesan School for Girls has a responsibility to ensure that all our students and families have an understanding of Ko Tātou.

The purpose:

Ko Tātou is a proactive way of being which enables our School to be a safe and welcoming place where everyone can be authentic, and feel they are valued and belong in our community. The culture, which enables Ko Tātou, fosters courage and confidence in being the best that we can be. This is underpinned by our Anglican identity and our responsibility to Te Tiriti o Waitangi. The values of honesty, integrity, respectfulness, and empathy are central to our community's experience, growth, and relationships.

At the start of each year all students will have the Ko Tātou expectations outlined to them through the pastoral care network. Throughout the year this will be reinforced throughout all aspects of our learning and pastoral care network.

Students are expected to uphold their personal responsibilities as a Student at the School and speak up if they witness behaviours that do not align with Diocesan's expectations.

This responsibility is about being part of the Diocesan Community and identifying/naming and communicating concerns where behaviours do not meet either personal and/or Diocesan Values. All concerns will be followed up as appropriate.

Diocesan has specific policies that outline the procedures which will be followed if the expectations of the Ko Tātou are not met:

- For learning environment issues refer to Student Services Policies - Expectations for Learning.
- For interpersonal relationship issues refer to Student Services Policies - Harassment and Behaviours Causing Harm.
- Inappropriate use of digital equipment may result in confiscation.

NB: Inappropriate use of digital equipment may result in confiscation.
